FACULTY OF ARTS PRESS

Diversity of disciplines at the Faculty of Arts, Charles University and the outstanding quality of research create a unique academic environment with an impact extending far beyond the Czech context. This is of course reflected in the Faculty of Arts (FA) publishing activity. Publications by our staff members often represent the highest standard and serve as basic reference titles in their fields.

For several years now, the flagship of the FA editorial activity, the Opera Facultatis philosophicae Universitatis Carolinae Pragensis series, has been introducing exceptional works which affirm the prestige of our research. The following edition series for the faculty monographs have already long year tradition: Mnemosyne, Trivium, Fontes, Humanitas, Medium and Varia. Besides these regular series, FA Press publishes several representative individual works every year.

The wide range of subjects taught and researched at the faculty is reflected in our journals that are published several times a year, often in foreign languages. All FA Press journals offered in this catalogue are Open Access journals with online content freely available to the readers under the CC BY-NC-ND 2.0 licence. Most of the faculty periodicals are regularly indexed and evaluated by prestigious world databases. The publishing activities of the FA are thematically so diverse and of such outstanding quality that they are able to address both the experts and the lay public.

BRÜCKEN

Brücken is a peer-reviewed journal of interdisciplinary German, especially German-Bohemian studies published since 2020 biannually by Faculty of Arts, Charles University. It contains scientific studies, essays, reports and reviews of various thematic, theoretical and methodological focus. We especially welcome philological or interdisciplinary German- and English-language contributions in the fields of intercultural studies, comparative studies, research on language contact, German as a foreign language, language history and other contributions from relevant areas of cultural studies in the Central European context. The journal follows on from the yearbook brücken (1985–1989) and brücken. Neue Folge (since 1991), which in 2019 was transformed into a journal. The name refers also to the magazine Die Brücke – Most (1934–1938), one of the platforms of German-Czech cultural understanding in Czechoslovakia.

ČASOPIS PRO MODERNÍ FILOLOGII / JOURNAL FOR MODERN PHILOLOGY

Journal for Modern Philology is a peer-reviewed non-impacted linguistic journal published in Czech (or Slovak). It was launched in 1911 and between 1926 and 1935 it was the main publication outlet for the Prague Linguistic Circle. It is concerned with contrastive linguistics, the study of Western European languages in contrast with Czech (or Slovak). The focus is primarily on major European languages (English, German, French, Spanish, Italian and Portuguese), to a minor extent on other languages. Items include original articles covering all aspects of contrastive linguistic description, along with interdisciplinary approaches. However, in view of the range of other, specialized periodicals, Journal for Modern Philology does not, with a few exceptions, accept items dealing with issues concerning Slavic Studies, Oriental Studies, teaching methodology, Translation Studies and Literary Sciences.

HISTORIE – OTÁZKY – PROBLÉMY / HISTORY – QUESTIONS – ISSUES

Based on the specialist orientation of the Institute of Czech History of the Faculty of Arts, Charles University, the Historie — Otázky — Problémy profile thematically focuses on the history of the Czech lands and Central Europe, from the early Middle Ages down to contemporary history. Individual studies are to cover a broad range of topical historical subjects, both involving political, cultural, social and economic history and the history of historiography, current developments in the methodology of historical studies and issues associated with the didactics of history. In all these areas the journal operates not only along the latest historiographical lines, but also and in particular in broader interdisciplinary collaboration with other humanities subjects (e.g. auxiliary historical studies, history of art, Czech studies, philosophy, philological fields, sociology, Jewish studies and the like). The extensive annotations provide the researcher community with continuous information on successful diploma theses and dissertations. Individual issues are complemented with the usual research service in the form of reviews, annotations and news from Czech and foreign conferences.

LINGUISTICA PRAGENSIA

Linguistica Pragensia is an open access peer-reviewed international journal of language and linguistics that builds upon the tradition of functional structuralism. It is published biannually by the Faculty of Arts, Charles University (Department of Germanic Studies, Department of Romance Studies). The journal's outlook is both synchronic and diachronic; its interests empirical as well as theoretical. Established in 1991 as successor to Philologica Pragensia (1958–1990), the journal welcomes submissions that further the understanding of language in the areas of phonology, morphology, syntax and word-formation, of sociolinguistics and psycholinguistics, of formal, computational, cognitive, contrastive and historical linguistics, with a focus on principal European languages, in particular Romance and Germanic. Linguistica Pragensia is cited in Scopus, the European Reference Index for the Humanities (ERIH), MLA International Bibliography, Bibliographie Linguistique / Linguistic Bibliography, The Year's Work of Modern Language Studies, Central European Journal of Social Sciences and Humanities, Bibliografia Językoznawstwa Slawistycznego (Slavic Linguistics Bibliography), Bibliografie české lingvistiky (Czech Linguistics Bibliography) and ulrichsweb. Since 2016, it has also been indexed and abstracted in Emerging Sources Citation Index (Clarivate Analytics).

SLOVO A SMYSL / WORD & SENSE

Slovo a smysl / Word & Sense, a journal of interdisciplinary theory and criticism in Czech studies, was established in 2004. The periodical strives to create a forum for scholarly debate and the elaboration of various theoretical and methodological approaches within the context of Czech literary studies. With its emphasis on publishing primary sources and the translation of both Czech belles lettres and global literary theory, the journal acts an aid in the teaching of Czech literature and literary theory not only in Czech universities, but also in foreign university programs. The journal contains longer original scholarly works, individual analyses of more extensive specialized topics, and contextual and biographical essays on significant figures in the field. It also focuses on Czech studies at home and abroad and provides the latest information about the scholarly activities of various foreign programs; the Translations section provides translations of important or stimulating theoretical texts into Czech and of significant Czech literary and theoretical texts into other languages, especially English.

STUDIA ETHNOLOGICA PRAGENSIA

Studia Ethnologica Pragensia (SEP) is peer-reviewed scholarly journal focusing on ethnological and anthropological discourse with emphasis on fields of sociocultural anthropology, European ethnology and comparative folkloristics. Within this scope it welcomes contributions from these disciplines as well as those using interdisciplinary approaches reaching across other related fields. We encourage diversity both in theoretical and empirical approaches that moves ethnological and anthropological research beyond current knowledge. SEP is published twice per year by the Faculty of Arts, Charles University since 2010 and follows longstanding tradition of the Studia Ethnographica/Ethnologica series, published by the Charles University since 1972. The journal is managed by Editor-in-Chief, Managing Editor, Associate Editors and Editorial Board. SEP content include these peer reviewed sections: Studies, Review Essays, Materials; and other sections: Reports, Reviews, Interviews. All the texts in peer reviewed sections undergo double blind review by two independent scholars. The journal accepts texts in English, Slovak, and Czech languages.

SVĚT LITERATURY / WORLD OF LITERATURE

Svět literatury (World of Literature) is a peer-reviewed scholarly journal founded in 1991. It is targeted at the Czech academia, with international outreach, the articles are in Czech with English abstract and keywords. The editorial board consists of eminent scholars from both Czech and international academic institutions. The journal focuses on modern European and American literatures, overreaching into other cultural areas. Its main aim is to foster the integration of the study of foreign literatures in the light of modern thought on literature and of the problems of contemporary world: to assimilate foreign literatures through original reflection, and to open the Czech cultural scene to European and international dimension. The content is structured into several sections: academic articles organized in thematic blocs, a section on "Overviews and Materials", and "Reviews" of scholarly publications. The journal also organizes interdisciplinary colloquia, the results of which are published in the section "Discussion". Since 2016, the journal has regularly published special issues with contributions by many renowned international scholars.
